The February 17 ceremony began the construction of the new wing which will provide over 13,000 square feet of additional space for learning resources.

Dr. Art Bond

Bond Completes Doctorate

Dr. Art Bond, Department Chairperson of Fine Arts, Calhoun Community College, recently completed his doctorate at The University of Alabama. Bond has been employed as Art Instructor and Department Chair at Calhoun since 1970. He received undergraduate and master's degrees from New Mexico State University.

Following the completion of his dissertation which focused upon the religious skepticism in the works of Twain, Cross has published articles on Mark Twain in scholarly journals.

Dr. Randy Cross

Student Finds Expression Through Artistic Ability

Mr. Clinton Ray Rose has overcome many negative circumstances in life to excel in the area of artistic ability. His interest and skill has been enhanced through the instruction of Mr. Larry Manning, Art Instructor at Jefferson Davis State Junior College. Mr. Manning's art classes at the Fountain Correctional Center have provided a note of positive encouragement to Mr. Rose in a very drab and often depressing prison environment.

Having dropped out of public school in the fifth grade, Mr. Rose recently had the opportunity to attend Adult Basic Education classes and successfully complete the GED examination. This certificate enabled Mr. Rose to enroll as a student at the extension center which JDSJC has operated at Fountain Correctional Center since the Summer Quarter of 1974. Mr. Manning, who teaches in a number of art mediums, has indicated that Clinton Ray Rose has exceptional talent and ability in his art work. This appreciation has recently been acknowledged in that Mr. Rose was allowed to have a one-man art show in the Thomas E. McMillan Museum at Jefferson Davis College.

In order to reflect on the experiences which he has had within the Alabama Prison system, Mr. Rose is currently developing an artist's conception of "Life Within Prison."

Membership Expanded In Deans Association

The Alabama Association of Community and Junior College Deans of Students held a Winter Quarter Meeting on Friday, February 11 at the Regional Technical Institute in Birmingham. Final preparations were outlined for the "Most Outstanding Student" competition which is sponsored each year by the Executive Council of AJCCA, as well as the Deans of Students Association.

Scholarship awards have been increased by the Executive Council to $250 for the winner of this competition and $125 for each of the two alternates. In addition to these monetary awards, each student will be competing for academic scholarships from the four-year institutions in the State of Alabama. A total of fifteen institutions were represented in the 1982 competition, and preliminary indications are that the 1983 competition will include an even larger number than the previous year.

Another item which was unanimously passed by the Deans Association was to extend affiliate membership to the Regional Technical Institute, Athens State College, three private two-year schools, as well as all technical institutions which have deans or directors of student affairs. This offer of affiliate membership is designed to bring the technical college segment of the junior college system into a closer relationship with the academic phase of the two-year system.

Mr. Gary Utz, Director of Admissions Services at RTI, presented data to the Deans Association relative to a student questionnaire which was completed by RTI students and their parents. Presentations were also made by the director of the new Radiation Therapy Program as well as Dr. Steven Collier. Dr. Collier's information centered on the subject of manpower supply and demand in the allied health professions within the State of Alabama.

Art Teachers Plan For Student Art Display At Convention

Dr. Helen Austin, Chairperson for Art at Calhoun Community College, with the assistance of Gordon Thayer, Chairperson for the AJCCA Commission on Students, are planning for a display of junior and community college student art work at the April meeting. Articles to be displayed will include drawing, painting, and ceramics. Each college is being invited to contribute a limited number of items for the exhibit. Items will be on display in the University Room which borders the commercial exhibit area on the lower promenade of the Birmingham Hilton. Anyone needing further information regarding the exhibit should contact Dr. Helen Austin, Calhoun Community College, Decatur.

Last Minute Convention Plans

Jackson Sasser, Calhoun Community College, is planning to organize a "fun run" for all those athletic and energetic AJCCA conventioners. Tentative plans are for the run to be held "early" Friday morning, April 15. Watch your convention registration packet for final information regarding this activity.
